

Freezing technology designed to handle anything you dish out.

Danna LeBlanc and Elton Hooper are part of our Advanced Freezing Technologies team. By focusing on what matters most to customers, they deliver efficient, highly adaptable liquid nitrogen freezing systems.

Our liquid nitrogen freezing systems are just the thing for your most complicated recipes. Along with supplying the necessary gases, we offer a range of innovative technologies. Which means we can design a system for your specific needs, then build and maintain it. So no matter what you're processing, we can provide a configuration to help meet your needs. Want to turn your concept into reality?

Air Products' experience and technology will get you there. Call 800-654-4567, code 316 or visit us online to get a free case study. And see how we've delivered efficient freezing solutions to customers around the world.
