Bruce C. Hargus

Vice President and General Manager–
Sales and Operations
Electronics Division

Bruce C. Hargus joined Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. in 1978 following active duty in the U.S. Navy. He began as a participant in the company's Career Development Program, with assignments in management information systems and project engineering. He subsequently held a variety of engineering positions within the company's Process Systems Group, and in 1986 was named business manager–project planning for process industries. In 1990 Hargus was transferred to Houston where he was named Texas area manager for the Chemical and Process Industries Division. He returned to corporate headquarters in 1996 as U.S. general manager for the Electronics Division, and in 2000 was named general manager, global electronics. In his current position, which he assumed in June 2002, Hargus is responsible for executing the company's commercial strategies across the global electronics organization, as well as managing the operations activities related to those strategies.

Hargus was born in 1951 in Akron, Ohio. He received his B.S. degree from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1973, graduated from the U.S. Naval Nuclear Power School in 1974, and spent four years in the submarine service. He received his M.B.A. from Lehigh University in 1982.

Hargus is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association.
