

Start using our new welding gases and there'll be no stopping you.

When you need extra mobility and safety, choose the Integra™ cylinder. Easier to handle and 23% lighter, this revolutionary design has a fully protected built-in regulator, and contains a similar amount of gas to a traditional cylinder.

Changing gas cylinders costs time, effort and money.

That's why Air Products has developed a new range of cylinders that actually boosts your productivity and reduces costs.

Take our high-volume N47 cylinders. These contain 40% more gas than traditional cylinders, so you don't need to swap them nearly as frequently.

And, what's more, they're filled with our new Maxx™ range of gases that delivers faster welding with fewer rejects.
