

Inventory Management ←

As a company, Air Products continues to recognize the advantages of using the Internet as a practical and convenient way of doing business in today's changing global economy. With 24/7 availability, the Air Products Direct (APDirect®) customer portal provides quick and easy access to useful account information to help you save time and increase productivity. The Inventory Management feature contained within the APDirect customer portal allows you to exchange information to help assure that your product deliveries are planned and optimized to your specific needs.

What is Inventory Management?

Inventory Management is a powerful online resource developed to understand your product usage and easily exchange critical information. Our Inventory Management feature contains useful demand planning tools that enable you to manage your inventory to help avoid product interruptions and improve forecasting and delivery efficiencies.

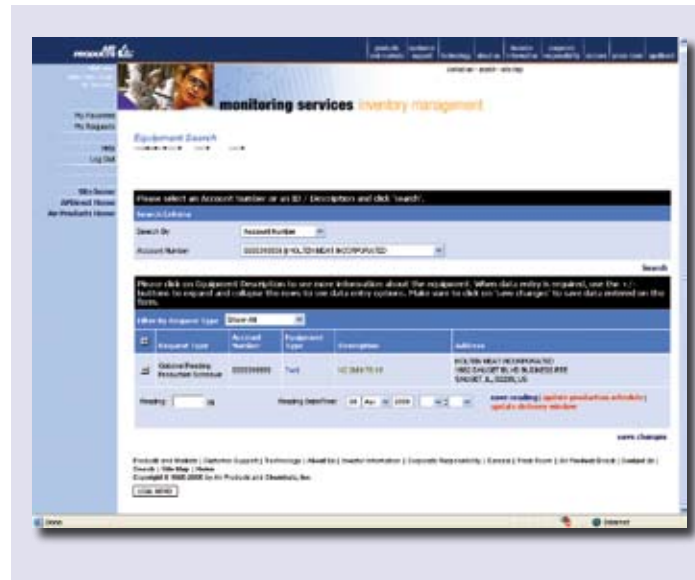

How can it help me?

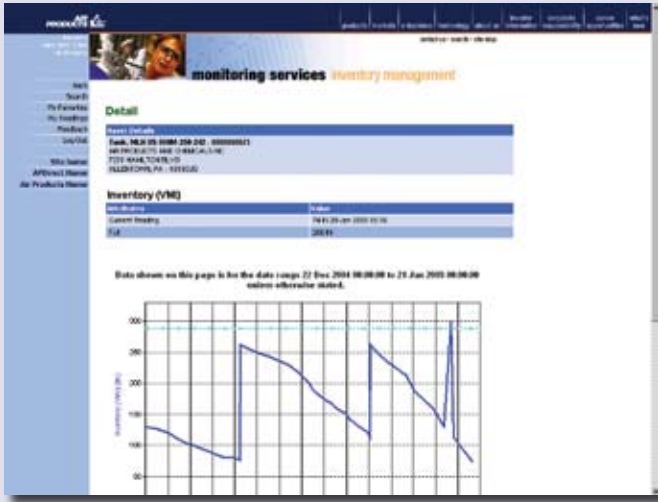

The Inventory Management application enables customers to enter readings, maintain holiday and weekend production schedules and enter temporary delivery window restrictions.

The 'My Requests' feature helps to manage inventory by identifying products where we need current information such as readings or production schedules. In addition, you can download a graphical, detailed view of your product usage. This data can be used to assist in production planning, identify usage trends or optimize your processes.

What else can I find there?

The APDirect customer portal is your gateway to the world of customer support at Air Products. It contains other useful features, such as ordering, order status, templates, and delivery reports along with access to online technical and product data.

The above screen capture displays the graphical data of your inventory that is available.
