

Ingrid Meier has always been fascinated by wetting and foam.

Ingrid Meier, Ph.D., is the perfect Air Products surfactant chemist – inquisitive, tireless, and a team player. And as part of a great team, she's significantly advanced the science she seemed drawn to as a child.

Chemist Ingrid Meier was born curious and determined. So, when someone said it wasn't possible to create a wetting agent that was a good defoamer, she took it as a personal challenge. Ingrid's team developed the EnviroGem™ family of environmentally friendly Gemini-based surfactants. Now all kinds of waterborne products work better, with much less foam in formulation and application.

Ingrid's dedication is just one example of what our 18,000 employees in over 30 countries do every day. As the world's only combined gases and chemicals company, we've been providing solutions to virtually every industry for over 60 years. What can we do for you? Please visit our website or call 800-345-3148.

tell me more
www.airproducts.com/Ingrid